The most important events in my military was our Capture of New Orleans, the Battle of Baton Rogue and Capture of Vicksburg, and Battle and Capture of Port Hudson, but the hardest of All was the Red River Campaign which required such long Continued marches as well as much hard fighting resulting in our leaving a great many of our noble Boys behind and which never returned.

Was in the great Battle at Gettysburg Pa. July 1-2-3-4 1863. and there was continual fighting for our Cavalry for several days thereafter till the Rebels Crossed the Potomac river. Our next Campaign was the Killpatrick raid to Richmond where we expected to liberate our prisoners. we got within the Rebel lines, but they being too many for us. we had to retire before accomplishing our purpose. this was a very hard Campaign. requiring constant fighting to keep from being Captured. upon this Campaign I was taken seriously sick and upon the return to our lines I was sent to the State hospital at New Haven Conn. after which I was sent to hospital at Newyork. and then to Lincoln Hospital at Washington. from which place I joined my Regiment as they Came through there to fight the Rebel Troops under Early at the time he approached so near Washington in 1864. we followed Earley into Virginia and I then participated in the Battles at Winchester Cedar Creek. Fishers Hill. and in the early Spring of 1865 we made a Raid up the Shenandoah Valley Cleaning out everything before us. and fighting nearly daily until we arrived at Richmd where we took part in the Battles with the Army of the Potomac till Lees surrender at Appomattox Was also at the Grand review at Washington in may 1865. which with the forgoing Killpatrick raid to Richmond, was among my most important events

WAR HISTORY.

This brave old Soldier passed away before leaving with us his important war record which is a disappointment to his many friends, however it is known that he was a brave Soldier. he served his Country during the great struggle from the begining to the end and by his heroism rose from private to be Captain of his Company. he being one of the youngest Soldiers in the army to know that position hence in attaining this important position he proved his great worth a capable and brave soldier. Perhaps his most exciting experience was his being taken prisoner, and on his way to prison he made a break for liberty which he succeeded in doing, and after about 2 weeks travel and nearly Starved, he safely reached our lines, having traveled during the time about 250 miles,
